

A New Look at the Old Testament

In today's Epistle lesson, Paul explains to the Corinthians, how things have changed through Jesus Christ:

HE DELIVERS MOTIVE.

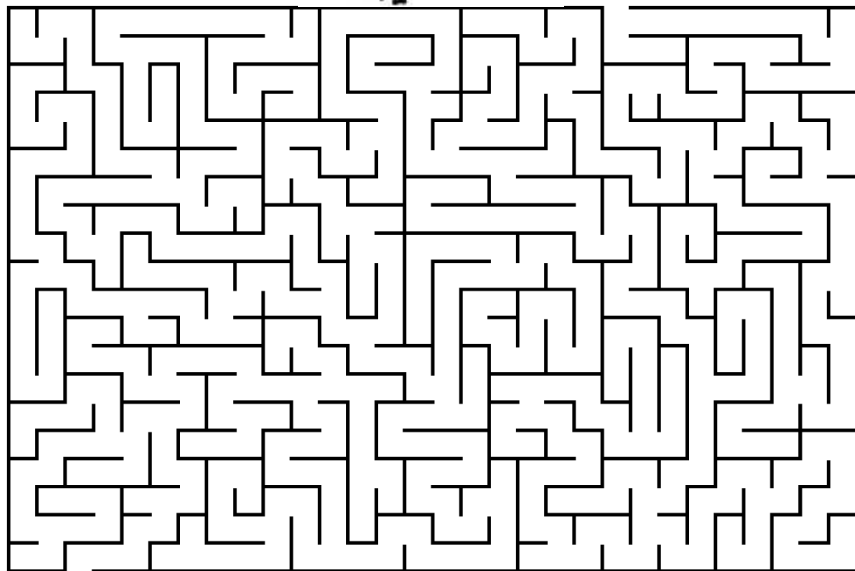

Well, while that may be true, it's not what Paul says. But if you put the letters in the right order, you'll find why we can see clearly now:

Today's lessons:

Exodus 34:29-35

When Moses met God on Mount Sinai, some of God's glory must have rubbed up on him: coming down from the mountain, Moses' face shone so brightly that it scared the Israelites, and Moses had to put on a veil.

Psalms 99

Before almighty God, human beings and all nature tremble with awe.

2 Corinthians 3:12 – 4:2

The apostle Paul interprets the story about Moses and the veil: unlike the Israelites, the Christians can see God's glory unveiled through Jesus Christ.

Luke 9:28-36 (37-43a)

On top of a mountain, Peter, John and James get a glance of Jesus' glory as the Son of God. It becomes clear that he is even more important than the greatest men of the past: Moses and Elijah.

On God's Holy Hill

Today's psalm describes how on Mount Zion, the hill on which Jerusalem stands, the people of Israel felt God's presence, just like on Mount Sinai: his power and greatness that demands our worship.
